Hello

If you've ever lingered over a map and wondered what's beyond the familiar, this package is for you. Adventure Canada creates small-ship expeditions designed for people who like their travel with depth and discovery, plus the kind of joy you feel in the wind on your face, the glow of long light, and those quiet "can you believe this?" moments shared with good people.

We're pleased to present a snapshot of our 2026 and 2027 voyages and vessels, from the Arctic and North Atlantic to the Pacific Northwest, Japan, and beyond. We travel on ships built for exploration, with on-board experts and cultural educators who help bring each place to life, not as a checklist, but as a story you get to step into, laugh inside of, and remember long after you're home.

We're proud to be Canadian-owned, family-owned, and independently operated. We still build our travel calendar the old-fashioned way: carefully, personally, and with pride in where we come from. Our Canadian roots shape how we travel anywhere, with warmth, curiosity, and deep respect for the places and people who welcome us. Thank you for considering us, and for choosing travel that's thoughtful, joyous, and genuinely curious.

Yours in adventure,
Cedar Swan, Matthew James Swan, and Alana Bradley-Swan

Some of the photos in this brochure were taken with tele-photo (zoom) lenses and may appear closer to wildlife, ice, or archaeological artefacts than we really were. We always keep a safe distance and follow mandated regulations.

In Canada, we travel through Inuit Nunangat, including Nunavut, Nunavik, and Nunatsiavut. We also journey often within Mi'kmaq, Innu, and Haida territories. Internationally, we travel in Kalaallit Nunaat (Greenland) and elsewhere, where Indigenous rights, protocols, and colonial histories are place-specific and must be learned locally, with humility and care.

It's All About Connecting

At Adventure Canada, we have one big mission: to connect you—to the wonders of nature, rare wildlife, jaw-dropping landscapes, local cultures (and their delicious food), history, music, science, and, most importantly, each other.

We do it all with heart, humanity, and a hefty dose of hope.

So, grab your metaphorical backpack and link arms with us. Together, we'll explore the places you've dreamed of. People say it's transformational. Perhaps it will be for you.

Travel with Purpose

Travel isn't just about snapping photos and buying souvenirs. It's about going deeper. Travel with purpose: to explore, learn, connect, and grow. Travel with yearning: for adventure, joy, fulfillment, and authenticity. Travel with respect: for nature, cultures, communities, and yourself.

When you travel with us, you're not just a tourist—you're a curious adventurer who refuses to let the world grow any smaller. So pack your bags and your biggest dreams—we've got a lot of ground (and water) to cover together.

Restore Yourself with Nature

We call it Vitamin N—"N" for nature—and trust us, it's exactly what the doctor ordered. On an Adventure Canada expedition, you'll get a double dose of fresh air and awe, guaranteed to leave you feeling recharged and ridiculously alive.

Imagine this: you're sitting on a 10,000-year-old tundra boulder, left behind by a glacier with impeccable timing. The silence is so loud it's almost a symphony. The vastness is humbling. And suddenly, you feel it—that deep, heart-squeezing connection to the world around you.

Here, away from all the noise of your inbox and to-do list, nature does what it does best: it heals, restores, and inspires. Welcome to the ultimate reboot.

Wildlife Encounters

An eye-to-eye moment with a wild creature in its natural habitat is pure magic—a privilege that stirs your soul and shifts your perspective. It's not just about the thrill of the sighting but about finding a deeper connection to the wild and carrying that inspiration home.

Wildlife spotting is often a highlight of our expeditions, but the untamed places we explore mean animals can be elusive and unpredictable. Our expert guides take you where sightings are most likely, but luck is always a factor. Colonial seabirds may be reliable, but polar bears, muskoxen, walrus, and beluga require some good fortune and patience.

When wildlife appears, we'll get you as close as possible. We'll even alter the ship's course if necessary.

But we always keep a safe and respectful distance. After all, it's their home and we are the visitors.

A single moment shared with a wild animal can leave a lasting imprint, like a tattoo on the soul. It's these fleeting, extraordinary experiences that remind us we're part of something much bigger and we share some responsibility.

Cross-Cultural Connections

At Adventure Canada, our journeys aren't just about where you go—they're about who you meet along the way. Wherever we travel, local culture bearers join us as part of the expedition team. Inuit, Scottish, Faroese, Icelandic, Newfoundlanders, or Labradorians—these incredible individuals are here to help you dive deeper into the heart of their cultures.

Sure, you'll experience Inuit throat-singing and drum dancing, Scottish haggis and Highland dancing, but that's just the beginning. The real magic happens when these moments turn into genuine connections. It's not about checking off a list; it's about opening your heart and mind to new perspectives. Through storytelling, shared meals, and a few good laughs, you'll leave with more than memories. You'll leave with new friends and a fresh lens for seeing the world.

Lifelong Learning with Our Expedition Team

Forget boring lectures and stuffy textbooks—our expeditions are like stepping into the coolest classroom on Earth.

Led by our expedition team of local legends and quirky experts, every day is an opportunity to nerd out on topics that make your brain tingle. Learn about the effects of climate change on Arctic marine life, unravel the mysteries of Scottish folklore, sing along with rousing sea shanties, test your ability to differentiate between colourful lies and truth while learning more about the dialects of Newfoundland and Labrador, or get hands-on with creative activities like printmaking or traditional Inuit beading.

Think of it as school with better snacks, more laughter, and a curriculum designed by Mother Nature herself. By the end, you won't just feel smarter—you'll feel more connected to the world around you.

Expeditions for Families

Family travel isn't just a vacation—it's a backstage pass to magic. Whether you're laughing with siblings, exploring with grandparents, or swapping stories with your kids, these journeys bring everyone closer.

Imagine hiking together, spotting wildlife, or sharing a laugh over who packed way too many socks. With

Adventure Canada, family time means slowing down, breathing deeply, and creating stories you'll tell around the holiday table for decades.

Bonus points for the fact that these adventures make you look like the coolest family ever.

Back in 1987, two brothers and a buddy had a wild idea: take people to the parts of the world where the maps have more blank space than names. Armed with a zany spirit and a love for adventure, they created a travel company like no other.

Fast forward a few decades, and the Swan family is still at the helm—now with the next generation steering the ship. What's changed? Not much, except maybe the Wi-Fi. What's stayed the same? A passion for connecting people with the world's most extraordinary places and each other.

THE THREE S'S

Safety, Service, and Sustainability

At Adventure Canada, every expedition is guided by our unwavering commitment to safety, service, and sustainability—overarching values that define our business.

Adventure may be our name but “safely” is how we do it. Your well-being is always our top priority, and we’re experts at balancing thrilling experiences with meticulous care.

Service? We’ve got that covered too. We’re here to make your trip unforgettable, and if there’s something on your mind, we’ll move mountains (or at least icebergs) to make it right.

The pursuit of sustainability is at the heart of everything we do at Adventure Canada. We’re deeply aware that our business—like all businesses—impacts the world around us. And that we have the potential to do good.

Our approach to sustainability begins with a harshly self-honest assessment of our impacts. Our ships and planes contribute to climate change. Our operations generate waste, and we know tourism can leave footprints on local cultures and communities in ways we might not intend. And the list goes on. But awareness is just the first step—action is where it counts.

We approach sustainability with a two-fold mission: first, to mitigate or eliminate harm we might cause, and second, to maximize the positive changes we can create along the way.

We are investing in more efficient ships and are making it easy for our guests to offset the climate impacts of their time with us. On our primary ships, we have eliminated single-use plastics, aggressively reduced our waste generation, adjusted our meal plans to reduce both carbon and waste impacts, and implemented a “green” purchasing program and tools—to name a few of our improvements.

Sustainability isn’t just about protecting the planet—it’s about people, too. For the communities we visit, it’s about building trust, fostering mutual respect, and doing our best to ensure that every community thrives long after we’ve set sail. It’s about fostering a diverse and inclusive environment for our guests and team members.

For us, environmental integrity isn’t a checkbox; it’s a lifelong responsibility and a shared adventure.

We take sustainability seriously.

Our Taste of Place program is another cornerstone of our regenerative travel efforts. It’s about enjoying a meal, and experiencing a place through its flavours, traditions, and stories. Where possible, you’ll learn about local harvest methods, meet regional producers, and taste dishes rooted in cultural heritage. We work hand-in-hand with local partners, champion Indigenous food traditions, and contribute to local economies. Taste of Place transforms every bite into a connection between people, place, and purpose.

Expedition team members, John Houston and Randy Edmunds host a Taste of Place event along with local residents.

Life Aboard and Ashore

Life aboard our ship is a delightful mix of serenity and zaniness—it all depends on your vibe and the time of day. Two things are certain: boredom doesn't stand a chance, and you'll discover kindred spirits to share the adventure.

Expedition life is all about adaptability, and every day offers something new. From captivating talks and hands-on workshops to trivia nights, concerts, singalongs, theme dinners, and dances, there's never a dull moment.

When we step ashore, you choose the activity that suits you best—an energizing hike, a relaxed beachcombing stroll, or a chance to spend time with a member of our expedition team—picking up photography tips, sharpening observation skills, or learning how they read the landscape.

Of course, in the wild, nature always calls the shots. While we aim for Plan A, sometimes Mother Nature throws us a curveball and insists on plans B or C—and that's OK. Often, these surprises lead to moments even more magical than we imagined. Safety, comfort, and joy always come first. On an expedition, it's the unexpected that makes it extraordinary!

A Living Arctic Homeland

A living, storied seascape connects past and present. It holds together sovereignty and stewardship, people and place, and the long arc of exploration. This expedition invites you to experience the Arctic not as a frontier, but as a homeland: vibrant, enduring, and deeply alive, anchored by Inuit skill, wisdom, and resilience. Out here, each day holds that quiet, heart-lifting possibility of encountering iconic wildlife where it belongs, moving freely through a vast northern world.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Journey through Inuit Nunangat in partnership with Inuit guides and cultural educators
- › Cross the Arctic Circle, seeking polar bears, seabirds, and other Arctic wildlife in their natural environments
- › Cruise among icebergs at Ilulissat Icefjord, a UNESCO World Heritage Site
- › Spend time in one of Canada's largest National Marine Conservation Areas, Tallurutiup Imanga, where marine life gathers in the cold, clear waters
- › Retrace the historic route of European explorers, who for centuries picked their way through ice in hopes of finding a sailing route through the passage
- › Transit Ikirahaq (Bellot Strait), the narrow and dramatic waterway at the very northern tip of continental North America

Where Ice Gives Way

As summer's endless daylight loosens its grip, the Northwest Passage changes character. Out of the Northwest Passage pairs historic waters with living Inuit culture, guided by Inuit educators and community hosts who share language, humour, and contemporary northern life. The sea still offers whales and ice, but the nights are often their own kind of wonder. With luck, the aurora borealis unfurls above the deck, green-and-violet ribbons that make even quiet moments feel ceremonial.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Watch for polar bears, walrus, seabirds, and other wildlife along the ice-scoured Arctic coast
- › Hope for the dazzling dance of the Northern Lights
- › Explore Tallurutiup Imanga (Lancaster Sound), a vital marine ecosystem and travel corridor
- › Seek your 'furthest north' in Smith Sound
- › Visit Ausuittuq (Grise Fiord), Canada's northernmost community
- › Cruise among icebergs at Ilulissat Icefjord, a UNESCO World Heritage Site

Stories Carried by the Sea

Circle Newfoundland where sea spray hangs in the air and outport lights wink against rugged cliffs. This voyage is knit together by welcome, wit, and the island's gift for turning history into living story, from a French-accented pause in Saint-Pierre to a Mi'kmaw welcome in Miawpukek and a kitchen party in François. Walk the otherworldly Tablelands in Gros Morne, trace UNESCO threads from Red Bay to L'Anse aux Meadows, and enjoy our Taste of Place culinary program.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Revel in Newfoundland's world-famous culture and hospitality, shaped by the North Atlantic and generations of seafaring
- › Receive a warm Mi'kmaw welcome in Miawpukek First Nation, with insight into Mi'kmaw culture and history
- › Sample European flavour on the French island of Saint-Pierre
- › Step ashore at L'Anse aux Meadows, North America's only authenticated Norse site
- › Explore Red Bay, Labrador, a UNESCO World Heritage Site and the Basques' sixteenth century whaling hub
- › Savour Newfoundland through our Taste of Place program, where local catches and harvests reveal the systems, histories, and people behind the plate, and you'll sample both traditional favourites and contemporary takes

A Torngat Mountains Adventure

On the Canadian mainland, the Torngats rise as the highest peaks east of the Rockies, steep slopes surging from deep blue fjords where whales cruise and polar bears patrol. Ancient rock and open silence invite stillness and sharper attention. At the heart of the journey is Torngat Mountains National Park, shaped by Inuit leadership and knowledge, explored by foot and Zodiac at the land's pace. Newfoundland's music and sense of belonging, Inuit welcome in Nunatsiavut communities, and Nuuk's Kalaallit culture and contemporary life add vivid counterpoints.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Travel through Inuit Nunangat with Inuit hosts who share their stories, art, and traditions
- › Hike and Zodiac amid soaring peaks and deep fjords in Inuit-managed Torngat Mountains National Park
- › Step ashore at L'Anse aux Meadows, where Indigenous and Norse histories meet at the edge of the Atlantic

Where Life Moves Quietly

The Great Bear Rainforest is shaped by the pulse of life at every scale, from salmon-fed rivers and whale-rich channels to the quiet, dark haunts of the rare spirit bear. Travel through fjords and old-growth forests where bears, wolves, and eagles move through one of the world's most intact temperate rainforests. Guided by Indigenous knowledge and careful observation, the journey centres patience, respect, and attentiveness in a place where wildlife presence is felt as much as it is seen.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Search for the rare spirit bear within Gitga'at territory of the Great Bear Rainforest
- › Cruise narrow fjords and coastal channels known as whale "superhighways" and a visit to a whale research station
- › Experience the world's largest intact coastal temperate rainforest, with old-growth trees, moss-covered valleys, and rich coastal ecosystems
- › Visit Gitga'at communities, observing daily life, village sites, and coastal infrastructure
- › Explore the region by kayak and on foot, scanning shorelines and forest edges for coastal wolves, bears, birds, and marine life

The Galápagos Islands

March 24–April 1, 2027

From $14,995 to $15,995 USD

Aboard the La Pinta

Starts: Quito, Ecuador

Ends: Quito, Ecuador

In the Galápagos, life unfolds in plain sight—unafraid, unconventional, and shaped by isolation, fire, and sea. The journey moves among volcanic islands and nutrient-rich waters where giant tortoises follow ancient paths, marine iguanas slip into the surf, and seabirds nest within arm's reach. Across land and sea, evolution feels immediate and ongoing, with close encounters that invite curiosity, humility, and a deeper awareness of how life adapts, endures, and belongs.

- › Kayak, snorkel, and swim among sea lions, sea turtles, penguins, and sharks in the Galápagos' thriving marine ecosystems
- › Witness unforgettable wildlife encounters, including the blue-footed booby's iconic courtship dance
- › Explore stark volcanic landscapes shaped by lava flows, craters, and deep geological time
- › Discover Quito's layered history and artistry in one of Latin America's best-preserved UNESCO World Heritage centres, from hilltop viewpoints and landmark churches to everyday neighbourhood life and Andean flavours at the Equatorial Line
- › Visit the Charles Darwin Research Station to learn about conservation efforts, giant tortoises, and the archipelago's remarkable biodiversity

Starts: Vancouver, BC Canada

Ends: Sandspit, BC, Canada

A Living Cultural Landscape

Imagine standing at the edge of towering old-growth forests, where ancient cedar trees stand as witnesses to deep continuity. Or walking along pristine beaches where ocean and sky seem to breathe together. This journey through Haida Gwaii unfolds slowly and intentionally. Guided by Haida knowledge and story, we encounter monumental art, powerful village sites, and wildlife-rich waters. Shared moments of quiet, learning, and awe invite deeper reflection on place, culture, and our relationship to the natural world.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Journey into Gwaii Haanas, where land and sea are protected as one by Haida stewardship
- › Travel through coastal waters—sometimes by sea kayak—sharing space with seabirds and marine mammals within one of the North Pacific's richest ecosystems
- › Engage with living culture at the Haida Gwaii Museum and Kay Llnagaay Heritage Centre, guided by story, art, and community knowledge
- › Visit forested village sites and shores accessible only by water, including SGang Gwaay Llnagaay, a UNESCO World Heritage Site where ancient cedars and Haida carved poles bear witness

North Atlantic Saga

Where the North Atlantic gathers its strength, islands rise that have shaped human endeavour, imagination, and continuity for thousands of years. This voyage carries you through Scotland, the Faroe Islands, and Iceland, places where stone monuments outlast memory, seabirds fill the skies, and landscapes are shaped by fire, ice, and the sea. For the traveller drawn to stories held in rock and coastline, this journey offers a rare opportunity to explore how culture, nature, and geography meet, and to experience the North Atlantic not as a boundary, but as a corridor through which people, ideas, and stories have long travelled.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Discover Barra, the ancestral home of Clan MacNeil, and its iconic Kisimul Castle, standing offshore near Castlebay
- › Wander through one of Britain's most important Stone Age sites, the Calanais Standing Stones
- › Search the skies and nesting cliffs for fulmars, puffins, gannets, skuas, and other North Atlantic seabirds

In the Wake of the Vikings

Between Iceland and Greenland lies a stretch of sea long crossed by people with purpose—sometimes searching, sometimes arriving, always adapting. This voyage moves through a North Atlantic crossroads where history isn't a single saga but a multi-layered story across time. Norse settlements still catch the eye in stone and turf, while Inuit knowledge and presence form the deeper continuity along Greenland's coast. Today, Greenland speaks for itself: self-determined, contemporary, and creatively alive, shaped by glacier-carved fjords, drifting ice, and the people who call this place home.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Watch for whales while following the Viking route across the Denmark Strait to Greenland
- › Encounter East Greenland's magnificent, glacially carved fjords and witness glaciers calving mighty icebergs into the sea
- › Get close to glaciers and witness the calving mighty icebergs
- › Discover small, colourful Greenlandic communities, where working boats, drying pelts, and daily rhythms reflect a strong hunting and fishing heritage
- › Explore Erik the Red's former estate at Brattahlíð—a key site in Norse history

A High Arctic Odyssey

In Svalbard, the return of spring sets this High Arctic world in motion, reshaping ice, wildlife, and the rhythms of the landscape. As the sun lingers above the horizon, the archipelago reveals glacier-fed fjords, drifting pack ice, and coastlines where human history feels tentative against the scale of the landscape. Encounters with wildlife unfold on nature's terms, from seabirds returning to the nesting cliffs and walrus resting at the ice edge to the rare and powerful sight of polar bears navigating the broken surface of the pack ice. Here shifting ice and living systems meet in a place that feels vast, alert and continually changing. A place that invites attention, humility, and a deeper understanding of the Arctic on its own terms.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Travel through the High Arctic archipelago of Svalbard, navigating glacier-carved fjords and drifting pack ice aboard the ice-class
- › Seek iconic Arctic wildlife, including walrus, seabirds, reindeer, Arctic foxes, and polar bears
- › Explore historic whaling sites such as Smeerenburg within Northwest Svalbard National Park

⚓ SMALL-SHIP EXPEDITION CRUISE

Baffin Island and Greenland

August 15–28, 2026

From $9,995 to $19,995 USD

Aboard the Ocean Nova

August 14–25, 2027

From $8,995 to $18,995 USD

Aboard the Ocean Victory

Starts: Ottawa, ON, Canada

Ends: Toronto, ON, Canada

Circling the Midnight Sun

Follow the midnight sun along the coasts of Baffin Island and Greenland, where light lingers, colours sharpen, and every day feels gently expanded. Guided by Inuit voices and stories, the voyage blends quiet Zodiac moments among drifting ice with landings on tundra in bloom. Wildlife may appear in flashes, belugas in the wake, polar bears on the shoreline. In Panniqtuuq and Ilulissat, creativity and identity are inseparable from the land.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Travel alongside Inuit knowledge keepers through Inuit Nunangat, the ancestral and living homeland of Inuit
- › Watch for polar bears, seabirds, and other Arctic wildlife across northern waters
- › Cruise among cathedral-sized icebergs at Ilulissat Icefjord, a UNESCO World Heritage Site
- › Witness stunning glaciers, islands, and fjords surrounding Sisimiut
- › Learn about the rich traditions of Panniqtuuq
- › Explore the rolling tundra at Southeast Baffin Island—Canada's largest island
- › Discover the rich history and natural wonders of the Cumberland Peninsula

⚓ SMALL-SHIP EXPEDITION CRUISE

Scotland and Faroes

May 5–17, 2027

From $11,995 to $21,995 USD

Aboard the Ocean Victory

Starts: Aberdeen, Scotland

Ends: Troon/Glasgow, Scotland

Isles and Wonders

In the seaways between Scotland and the Faroes, the Atlantic sharpens the senses: longer horizons, older stones, and islands where wind and story travel together. This voyage threads Orkney's Neolithic monuments, the Gaelic heart of the Hebrides, and the Faroes' fjords and waterfalls, with moments that feel both remote and warmly human. Stand on cliffs alive with seabirds, walk flower-strewn paths, and step into places shaped by Norse seafarers, monks, and island communities. Each landfall ties heritage to wildness and wonder to belonging.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Sail Scotland's rugged coastlines, where centuries of seafaring have shaped land, language, and culture
- › Wander among ancient standing stones in the Neolithic Orkney UNESCO World Heritage Site
- › Learn about crofting traditions on Foula in the Shetland Islands
- › Observe major seabird colonies along the dramatic cliffs of St. Kilda
- › Explore the Isle of Lewis, a vibrant centre of Gaelic culture in the Outer Hebrides
- › Experience the quiet rhythms of Fair Isle and exceptional birdlife
- › Zodiac-cruise to Fingal's Cave, renowned for its basalt columns and resonant acoustics

Discover the Islands of Japan

April 19–29, 2026

From $8,215 to $16,400 USD

Aboard the Heritage Adventurer

April 25–May 6, 2027

From $10,100 to $19,500 USD

Aboard the Heritage Adventurer

Starts: Tokyo, Japan

Ends: Osaka, Japan

*2027 departure starts in Osaka

Presence Shaped by Time

Japan's islands and cities weave a tapestry of quiet presence and layered meaning, where ancient temples, cedar forests, and coastal harbours speak as much in silence as in sound. Here, gardens and craft form gestures of respect, and everyday life reveals a reverence for place and people that invites slow attention. Moving between history and contemporary culture, this journey is an invitation to listen deeply, see closely, and discover how grounded presence shapes a lived landscape.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Explore Tokyo's striking contrasts, where ancient temples sit alongside neon-lit streets and cutting-edge architecture
- › Cross to South Korea to experience Busan's coastal energy, from bustling fish markets and street life to serene Buddhist temples
- › Discover the wild landscapes of Yakushima, a UNESCO World Heritage Site of ancient cedar forests and endemic wildlife
- › Walk through Nagasaki's layered history at Peace Memorial Park, the Atomic Bomb Museum, and historic Dejima Island
- › Trace Japan's samurai legacy in Hagi, exploring preserved districts, castle ruins, and the refined tradition of Hagi-yaki pottery

Aboard the Ocean Nova

Starts: St. John's, NL, Canada

Ends: St. John's, NL, Canada

Wild & Storied

Sail into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where coastlines, cultures, and seabirds share the same stage. This voyage moves through a world of limestone giants, fossil-rich canyons, and seabird-filled skies, with Percé's iconic stone arc standing watch over the sea. Step into Nitassinan, the Innu homeland, feel Acadian warmth, and glimpse the French character of Saint-Pierre-et-Miquelon. For the curious traveller, it's a passage into wild beauty, deep culture, and time-worn shores.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Admire Percé Rock from the sea and witness thousands of seabirds along Bonaventure Island's dramatic cliffs
- › Discover waterfalls, fossils, and wild landscapes on UNESCO-designated Anticosti Island
- › Learn about Acadian culture on the wind-shaped Îles-de-la-Madeleine
- › Wander among the limestone monoliths of Mingan Archipelago National Park Reserve
- › Explore the Innu homeland of Nitassinan, where land and tradition remain deeply connected

⚓ SMALL-SHIP EXPEDITION CRUISE

East Greenland

July 20–August 2, 2027

From $8,995 to $18,995 USD

Aboard the Ocean Victory

Starts: Reykjavík, Iceland

Ends: Toronto, ON, Canada

Stories of Ice and Light

Far into East Greenland, the fjords open like a secret corridor of ice and stone. This voyage marks a new expedition chapter for Adventure Canada, with Kangertittivaq (Scoresby Sound), the world's longest fjord, as the crown jewel. Travel by Zodiac and on foot through an ever-changing gallery of mountains and icebergs, alongside Inuit cultural interpreters. Along the way, encounter Greenland as it is today: self-governed and proudly distinct, with a living cultural tapestry that invites curiosity, connection, and respect.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Explore the Westfjords' cliffs and coastlines, shaped by sea and silence
- › Visit Uunartoq, where naturally heated hot springs rise from bedrock, framed by open sea and surrounding mountains
- › Zodiac cruise among the vast fjords of Kangertittivaq
- › Visit Ittoqqortoormiit, the northernmost community on Greenland's east coast
- › Experience the soaring peaks, shifting light, and powerful currents of Ikerasassuaq
- › Walk among the Norse ruins at Qaqortukuloq, where stone and story endure
- › Discover Nuuk's vibrant contemporary culture, alive with art, language, and Inuit expression

⚓ SMALL-SHIP EXPEDITION CRUISE

Epic Falkland Islands, South Georgia & Antarctica

January 16–February 4, 2027

From $25,195 to $46,895 USD

Aboard the Ocean Victory

Starts: Ushuaia, Argentina

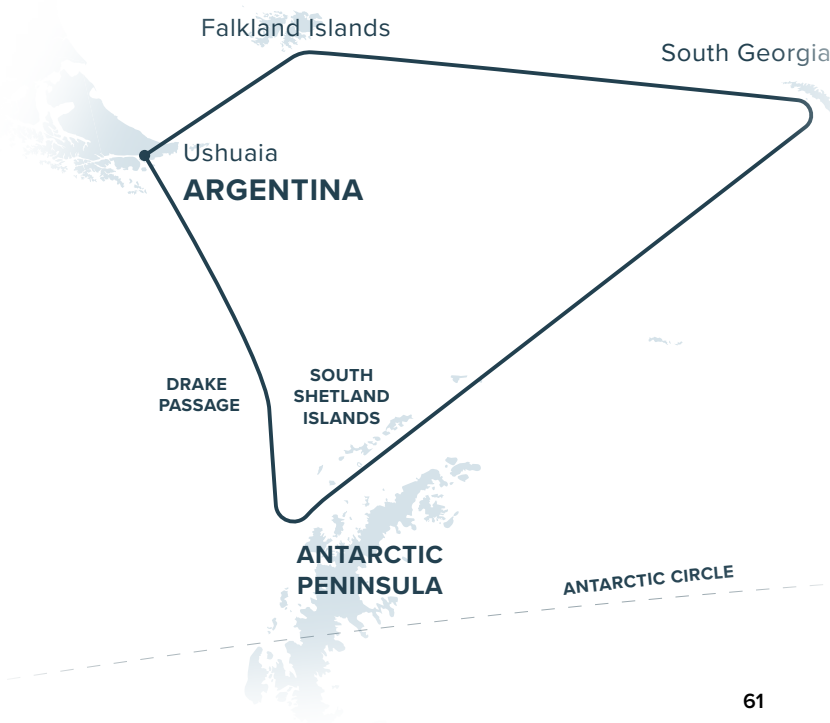

Ends: Ushuaia, Argentina

Life at the World's Edge

In the far south, abundance and immensity share the same horizon. The Falkland Islands, South Georgia, and Antarctica reveal windswept shores, wildlife-crowded beaches, and ice-sculpted coastlines that recalibrate a sense of scale. Encountering this region brings a sense of awe, but also something quieter: an urge to pay attention, to connect what you're seeing, and to leave with a deeper understanding, not just a broader view.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Explore the Falkland Islands' windswept grasslands, dramatic coastlines, and vibrant penguin colonies shaped by a layered human history
- › Discover South Georgia, one of the richest wildlife sanctuaries on Earth, where king penguins, breeding seabirds, and elephant seals gather in extraordinary numbers
- › Visit Grytviken to reflect on the era of polar exploration and the legacy of Sir Ernest Shackleton amid the remains of historic whaling stations
- › Cross the Antarctic Convergence into nutrient-rich polar waters alive with seabirds and whales
- › Visit the seldom-visited South Shetland Islands
- › Step ashore on the Antarctic Peninsula, the seventh continent, where chinstrap, gentoo, and Adélie penguins gather along ice-carved coastlines

⚓ SMALL-SHIP EXPEDITION CRUISE

Sable Island

July 5–12, 2027

From $6,995 to $15,725 USD

Aboard the Ocean Nova

Starts: St. John's, NL, Canada

Wild Horses and Outpost Legacy

Beyond Nova Scotia's curve, Sable Island rises as a thin arc of sand, forever redrawn by wind and waves. Wild horses roam its dunes, grey seals crowd its shores, and the Ipswich sparrow nests nowhere else on Earth. Its story is stitched from shipwrecks, science, and resilience. Rare, remote, and profoundly alive, Sable Island is a reminder that the Atlantic still holds places that reshape how you see the world, and your place within it.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Witness the world's largest grey seal colony hauled out along windswept beaches
- › Encounter Sable's iconic wild horses, untamed and resilient, moving with quiet power across the dunes
- › Wander the shifting sand dunes of this crescent-shaped island—a smile in the sea
- › Spot Ipswich sparrows—an endemic subspecies found only breed here
- › Learn about Sable's human history: shipwrecks, survival, and scientific discovery
- › Reflect on the legacy of the island's life-saving stations and the people who once lived at the edge of the Atlantic

Where Art Meets Land

A century after A.Y. Jackson and Dr. Frederick Banting sailed north aboard the Beothic, we revisit their Arctic experience through Greenland's fjords, Baffin's coasts, and Ellesmere Island's high latitudes. In partnership with the McMichael Canadian Art Collection, this centennial voyage blends exploration with artistic insight and research. Curator John Geoghegan brings those early works to life on board and ashore, while Inuit reveal the North as a living homeland, not a blank canvas.

May 17–25, 2027

From $6,995 to $15,195 USD

Aboard the Ocean Victory

Starts: Troon/Glasgow, Scotland

Ends: Troon/Glasgow, Scotland

Wildlife, Culture & Coastal Wonder

In late spring, the Celtic coastlines feel freshly awakened, with longer light, bright gardens, and headlands alive with birdsong. This voyage traces Ireland and its neighbouring shores through a season made for walking and watching, as wildflowers spill across coastal paths and dolphins and whales move along the Atlantic edge. Between ancient stones and coastal villages, meet the makers, musicians, storytellers, and historians who keep tradition bright, and feel how culture here is carried in language, craft, and the rhythm of the sea.

HIGHLIGHTS

- › Experience the rhythm and culture of the Celtic world across Scotland, Ireland, and Wales
- › Step ashore on the Isle of Man, with its own language, parliament, and living traditions, and where Norse and Celtic history remain part of everyday life
- › Explore Ireland's emerald landscapes, from Killarney's woodlands to the sweeping coast of the Ring of Kerry
- › Discover living Gaelic traditions on the Aran and Tory Isles through language, music, and art
- › Savour coastal heritage, from Manx kippers to Aran knitwear, rooted in craft and place
- › Encounter ancient wonders such as Dún Aonghasa and the Giant's Causeway, where legend meets geology

The Ocean Victory, launched in 2021, is one of the most modern small expedition vessels at sea. Purpose-built for discovery, it combines comfort, capability, and a deep commitment to sustainability—an ideal platform for Adventure Canada's small-ship journeys to some of the world's most remarkable places. Its innovative X-BOW® hull delivers smoother, quieter crossings and greater stability, while its ice-strengthened design ensures safe passage into areas few ships can reach.

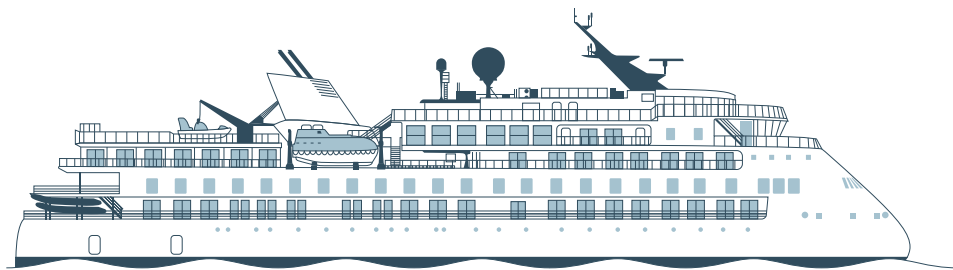

On board, travellers are welcomed into bright cabins, panoramic decks, and inviting spaces designed to spark conversation, laughter, and learning. Shared meals, engaging presentations, and quiet moments of reflection as icebergs drift past create a sense of community and curiosity. The Ocean Victory offers a rare combination of comfort, connection, and environmental care.
